Origin does not currently charge fees for a meter installation in NSW. However, if that has changed by the time we receive your completed form we'll contact you to let you know the fees that apply. You can find out more details about the current fees at originenergy.com.au/meterfees. Your local network provider will pass on any distribution fees to you directly.

Access to the property

To get your work done, you'll need to give us clear and safe access to the property and the meter location. Just so you know, if we don't have this, we'll need to reschedule the work for another day and fees may apply.
