

Tax Contribution Report 2020

Year ended 30 June 2020

How we report

At Origin Energy Limited (Origin), our 2020 corporate reporting suite is comprised of our Annual Report and Sustainability Report. As a signatory to the Board of Taxation's voluntary Tax Transparency Code, this year we have also published our fifth Tax Contribution Report.

We describe our non-financial performance in our Sustainability Report.

Our 2020 reporting suite is available on our website:

- Annual Report
- Sustainability Report

Our previous tax contribution reports can also be found on our website, see below for links to the previous two reports:

- 2019 Tax Contribution Report
- 2018 Tax Contribution Report

Following the release of the Australian Taxation Office's (ATO) yearly corporate tax transparency report in December each year, we provide a statement that explains our taxable income and income tax payable positions as published in the ATO's report. See below for links to the previous two Tax Transparency Reports:

- 2019 Income Tax Transparency Report
- 2018 Income Tax Transparency Report

While disclosures relating to Australia Pacific LNG Pty Ltd (Australia Pacific LNG) are included in our reporting suite, Australia Pacific LNG is excluded from the Origin Group for this report as it is not wholly owned by Origin. Therefore, this report does not include the taxes paid by Australia Pacific LNG (and its wholly owned subsidiaries). Origin's controlled entities, referred to as Origin Group, can be found in our 2020 Annual Report on pages 118-120.

Message from the Chief Financial Officer

I am pleased to present Origin's 2020 Tax Contribution Report, detailing the taxes we paid in the 2020 and 2019 financial years.

Our disclosure in this report aligns with the recommendations of the Board of Taxation's voluntary Tax Transparency Code, which aims to increase transparency around how much tax businesses pay and why.

This report details how the Origin Group meets its taxation obligations. Origin is open about our tax arrangements and how we comply with all applicable tax laws and regulations.

In the 2020 financial year, we paid $275 million to federal and state governments in income tax, payroll tax, excise and fringe benefit tax. This has increased by $107 million from the previous year, primarily due to an increase in income tax paid associated with higher taxable income in respect of the 2019 financial year.

Origin creates significant economic value through the performance of our Integrated Gas and Energy Markets divisions. In addition to paying taxes, our business contributes to Australia's economic growth through employment, procurement of goods and services and community and infrastructure investments.

Our purpose of getting energy right for our customers, communities and planet is at the centre of everything we do, committing us to making a positive contribution to the communities in which we operate and the broader Australian economy. I am proud to share our fifth voluntary report.

Lawrie Tremaine
Chief Financial Officer

Who we are

Origin is one of Australia's leading energy companies.

Since listing on the Australian Securities Exchange in 2000, Origin has grown to become one of the largest energy retailers in Australia, one of the country's most significant energy power generators and a major contributor to the domestic economy, with more than 5,200 employees.¹

We have an important role to play in providing energy, including electricity, natural gas, solar and LPG, to more than 4 million customer accounts and we work every day to make energy more affordable, more sustainable, smarter and easier.

We believe our company, and the energy industry more broadly, should be at the forefront of action to reduce carbon emissions. Origin was the first Australian company to set an emissions reduction target endorsed by the Science Based Targets initiative — aiming to halve our direct carbon emissions and reduce our indirect emissions by 25 per cent by 2032.

As well as providing energy, we contribute to local, regional and national communities by paying taxes, providing jobs, purchasing from local suppliers and investing in local infrastructure. We support community initiatives and help to build community skills and employment opportunities through activities such as apprenticeship schemes.

Through the Origin Energy Foundation, our philanthropic foundation, we support programs that use education to help break the cycle of disadvantage and empower young Australians to reach their potential. Since the Foundation's inception in 2010, it has contributed more than $27 million to the Australian community to meet this objective.

For further information on how Origin contributes more broadly to our community, including the work of the Origin Energy Foundation, please see our 2020 Sustainability Report at originenergy.com.au/sustainability.

Origin's tax policy and risk management framework

Origin is open and transparent about our tax arrangements and complies with all tax laws and regulations applicable in the countries in which we operate. We seek to mitigate tax risks associated with our activities in line with the ATO's Risk Management and Governance Review Guide.

Tax risks are identified and managed as part of Origin's risk management framework. The Origin Board reviews the framework annually and material risks are reported to the Board Risk Committee on a quarterly basis. Further details of our risk management framework and our material risks are in our 2020 Annual Report.

The Origin Board does not support activities that seek to aggressively structure the company's tax position. Tax results in our financial reporting, uncertain tax positions and significant legislative change or court decisions affecting our tax affairs, must be reported to the Board during each half year financial reporting period at a minimum. Tax payments and forecasts are also included in monthly finance reports provided to the Board.

Our tax function reviews any new or non-recurring transaction above a determined threshold, any transaction that has a material non-financial impact, any transaction that impacts the Origin Group's equity and any change in processes involving financial transactions. For major transactions with tax implications that will have a material financial impact on the company, we seek to obtain binding rulings from revenue authorities. If we rely on public rulings, transactions must comply with the conditions of these rulings so that Origin is assured of the appropriate tax treatment. Where we hold a joint venture interest, the company's representatives on joint venture boards and operating committees seek to align the joint venture entity approach with our position.

Origin's engagement with the Australian Taxation Office

The ATO has classified Origin as a "key taxpayer" pursuant to its Top 100 risk categorisation approach, meaning the ATO considers that we generally have a lower risk level relative to other taxpayers in the top 100 population.

As a key taxpayer, our operations are assessed as having a significant effect on the tax system and we proactively engage with the ATO and state and territory revenue offices on a regular basis to confirm compliance with the tax law.

The ATO has also issued Origin with an overall high level of assurance for income tax in respect of the 2017, 2018 and 2019 financial years under its justified trust initiative.² In particular, the ATO stated that "we have obtained high assurance that Origin paid the right amount of income tax for the 2017 and 2018 income years. We have monitored Origin's income tax affairs for the 2019 income year...As a result, we have maintained our confidence that Origin has paid the right amount of income tax."

²The justified trust initiative involves a comprehensive review of a taxpayer by the ATO with objective evidence that would lead a reasonable person to conclude that the taxpayer paid the right amount of tax. This is a higher level of assurance than confirming that certain risks do not arise. For further information on justified trust, please refer to the ATO's website, www.ato.gov.au/business/large-business/justified-trust/.

The Australian tax consolidated group

Origin has operations in Australia as well as several overseas countries, which are all subject to tax. We lodge a single Australian tax return that consolidates the results of our wholly owned Australian resident companies, known as the Origin tax consolidated group.

Origin's tax return primarily discloses the income derived solely from our Australian operations as total income. The Origin Group subsidiaries that have operations outside of Australia are not required to lodge an Australian tax return. However, their activities are included within Origin's Australian tax return, as an addition to the total income disclosed, to the extent they are taxed under the Controlled Foreign Company provisions, or where the central management and control is in Australia. These companies comply with the tax laws applicable to the countries in which they operate, are legitimate operating businesses and are not vehicles to minimise tax.

In the 2020 financial year, 99.3 per cent of Origin Group's income was earned from operations in Australia.

International operations

All of the Origin Group's cross-border related party dealings are conducted on an arm's length basis and are supported by contemporaneous documentation. These dealings can be classified into the following three key categories:

1. Sale of LPG and associated appliances by the Origin Group to our group entities in American Samoa, Cook Islands, Fiji, Papua New Guinea (PNG), Samoa, Solomon Islands, Vanuatu and Vietnam³, which operate LPG sale businesses in those countries;
2. Insurance obtained by the Origin Group from our captive insurer subsidiary company in Singapore; and
3. Licence to utilise the Kraken platform in Australia from Kraken Technologies Limited (a subsidiary of Octopus Energy Group Limited, in which Origin holds a 20% equity interest), and provision of a 3 year guarantee pertaining to Octopus' payment obligations to its financiers under a working capital facility.

In addition to meeting the transfer pricing requirements under the Australian tax law, income generated from our international subsidiaries in Fiji, Cook Islands, American Samoa, Samoa, Solomon Islands, PNG, Singapore, the Netherlands, Vanuatu and the United States of America are generally taxable in Australia pursuant to the operation of Australia's Controlled Foreign Company tax rules or due to the fact that the central management and control of some of these entities is in Australia.

The Origin Group includes entities based in Bermuda and Singapore. The entity in Bermuda and entities in Singapore (other than the Singapore captive insurer subsidiary noted above) act as holding companies that the Origin Group acquired or established to undertake development activities in Southeast Asia and South America. To date, these entities have not generated any income. Following a significant reduction in oil prices, we discontinued our international exploration and geothermal activities related to these entities and will wind up these entities.

Origin's effective tax rate

Effective tax rate is calculated as income tax expense divided by profit before tax. We show the effective tax rates on both statutory profit and underlying profit before tax in the following table:

With regard to the 52 per cent effective income tax rate on statutory profit, the variance from the corporate tax rate of 30 per cent is primarily due to:

- the accounting impairment of investment in Australia Pacific LNG, which is not deductible for income tax purposes; and
- the equity accounted share of Australia Pacific LNG's net profit after tax, which is not assessable for income tax purposes. Origin will be subject to tax on dividends received.

In the 2019 and 2020 financial years, Origin did not receive any dividends from Australia Pacific LNG.⁴

Table 1: Effective income tax rate

	2020	2019
Statutory profit	52%	5%
Underlying profit	15%	11%
Underlying profit (excluding equity accounted Australia Pacific LNG NPAT)	30%	23%

Table 2: Taxes paid by Origin

	2020 ($million)	2019 ($million)
Income tax	213	108
Payroll tax	33	35
Excise	26	22
Fringe benefits tax	3	3
Total	275	168

Taxes paid by Origin

During the 2020 financial year, Origin paid $275 million in income tax, payroll tax, excise, and fringe benefits tax to the ATO and state and territory revenue offices. These amounts exclude taxes paid by Australia Pacific LNG.

We also collect and remit taxes such as GST and PAYG withholding to the ATO.

Taxes paid by Origin 2020 ($million)

⁴ Origin received dividends from Australia Pacific LNG on mandatorily redeemable cumulative preference shares which are characterised as interest for accounting and tax purposes.

Reconciliation of accounting profit to income tax expense and income tax payable

Our 2020 Annual Report details the reconciliation of accounting profit before tax to income tax expense and income tax payable. A summary table is provided below and is based on Note E to our audited 2020 financial statements.

Table 3: Reconciliation of accounting profit to income tax expense and income tax payable

Changes to temporary and non-temporary differences per lodged income tax return	-	(12)
Current year tax payable/(tax effected value of losses)	(45)	196

The tax loss in 2020 financial year is primarily attributable to the tax depreciation claimed on the remaining tax base of the Browse Basin exploration permits and a realised foreign exchange loss on debt maturity.

In table 2 above, it is noted that an income tax payment of $213 million was made during the 2020 financial year. This amount includes a balancing payment of $144 million pertaining to the 2019 financial year (as that payment was only required to be made on 1 December 2019).

The tax loss in respect of 2020 financial year will result in a tax refund during the 2021 financial year.
